FORGING AHEAD TO AID MOTHER SECRET OF KELLER'S SUCCESS

From poor farm boy to justice of the City Court!

Joseph W. Keller, Democratic designee for justice of the City Court of the Borough of Manhattan, was born in Ireland in 1878. He was one of eight children raised and educated by his mother, Mary A. Keller, who was left a widow when he was but six years of age.

He knew no days of play. It was unceasing and unrelenting toil. Before and after school and all through vacation. He knows the feel of the hoe. The wearying hours in sun-baked fields.

At his mother's knee he learned courage and fortitude. It was she who instilled in him the faith to persevere and always to live a life "as clean as a brand new handkerchief."

Came to New York

Opportunity beckoned, and the youth came to New York. His assets—two willing hands and a curbside ambition.

"It isn't that I'm going to make something of myself through a selfish, personal desire," he said at the time. "I'm going to get up because I've got to—got to do it to justify my mother's unflinching faith in me. Any boy could succeed with her as his guiding star." And up and up he went, through the law, into the legislature, private practice, honors here and honors there, and at last—selection for the bench. His big moment.

Made Mother Proud

"Mother died," he said, "just two weeks before I was designated. She died July 12 in her 83d year. And her last words to me were: 'You've made me proud of you, Joseph, son.' That more than paid for anything I may have done and the hard work I've gone through."

In 1902 Keller entered New York University Law School and was elected class orator in his first year. Then a year at private practice, and he stepped into the Legislature in 1906 as assemblyman of the old Seventh Assembly District. He sponsored much progressive legislation.

In 1911 he was appointed secretary to the Democratic attorney general, Thomas Carmody, and in the following year was named a deputy attorney general under Mr. Carmody. In 1914 he resigned to become counsel to the state superintendent of insurance.

Since 1915 he has practiced law with offices at 217 Broadway. Two years ago he was named a special deputy attorney general to represent the state in condemnation of property taken by the state at Spuyten Duyvil for widening the Hudson River.

Golf, agriculture and horticulture are his hobbies. He is a member of the Englewood Golf Club, the New York Athletic Club, the American Irish Historical Society, the Catholic Club, the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick, New York County Lawyers' Association, the Horatio Seymour Tammany Club, and the Osceola Club.

He resides at 655 Park Ave., but still keeps membership in the Democratic Club of the old Seventh District, in which he got his start. So popular is he that a great number of his friends have formed a non-partisan citizens' committee to promote his election.

porters, although she talked freely with them yesterday, following a trip to Somerset County Jail where she visited her brothers, Willie and Henry Stevens, and her cousin, Henry Carpenter, the other three defendants.

Not Fit for Decent People

"You know," she declared, "I have reached the conclusion that New Jersey isn't a fit place for decent people."

Mrs. Hall, expressing no doubt as to the outcome of the trials, said her plans for the future had not been completed.

"But I will say I terribly dislike the Mrs. Hall that you reporters picture," she went on. "You say I am cold, austere. You give people the impression that I have no sense of humor. It seems to me as if you were writing about another woman."

"I hate publicity, anyway, and I'll be frank to admit that's the only reason I don't like to think of the trial."

BURGLAR SUSPECT HELD

Frederick Taglerine, 703 Park Ave., Brooklyn, was held without bail on a charge of burglary by Magistrate Short in Gates Avenue Court, today.

He was found yesterday by George Rosecrown, of 891 DeKalb Ave., Brooklyn, in Rosecrown's apartment, according to police.

Your Birthday

by STELLA

SEPTEMBER 29

FLORA NEGRI

This is the anniversary of the birth of Miss Flora Negri. When she was born, the Sun and Jupiter were in perfect accord, and Venus, the goddess of music, was strong in her own sign and in harmony with Jupiter, the lord of success. It was clear, therefore, that this gifted soprano, who is a pupil of James Massell, would attain success through the expression of music, and that she already has done so is proved by the fact that in one week, she made three appearances with the New York and Philharmonic symphony orchestras.

Affability is one of the best characteristics of those born under the Libran influence. As a rule, such people are of rather a quiet disposition. Of the four elements, they belong to the air, and there is an airy elegance and elusiveness about them which disarms criticism. They are sociable, kindly and courteous, and they have understanding and companionship. They love approbation and, as all things, hate to be criticised and found fault with. Sometimes this love of approbation makes them peculiarly susceptible to flattery; in fact, this desire to please and to be well thought of, when allowed to govern their actions, is one of their greatest faults.

The child born today should do well, but may be careless and lacking in method unless these tendencies are counteracted by early training.
